President of India Presents National Geoscience Awards

The President of India, Shri Ram Nath Kovind, presented the National Geoscience Awards today (May 16, 2018) in New Delhi.

Speaking on the occasion, the President said that India is one of the fastest growing major economies in the world. Our GDP as well as our larger developmental process is set to accelerate over the coming decades. The mining and mineral sector is poised to grow as a result of this expansion of the economy. At the same time, it will also be a driver of economic expansion. As we build more cities and houses and commercial centres, and create state-of-the-art infrastructure, our use of key resources will rise. As is well known, India's per capita consumption of many resources and commodities is still very low by global standards and there is room to grow. This will require high-quality research initiatives for sustainable, ecologically-friendly resource generation - and meaningful investment in technological innovation in the mining sector. That is why, the President said, reforms in the mining sector have been pushed by the government over the past four years. These reforms, including amendments to existing laws and establishing a more equitable system of royalties, are starting to show results. A number of mineral blocks are being explored. Steps taken by the Ministry of Mines have led to identification of promising mineral blocks in states for auction. These measures will go a long way in enhancing the financial health of our states - and allow them to spread the benefits from mining of resources. Eventually, it is local communities that must benefit from the discovery, extraction and development of mineral resources. The President said that social expectations from our geoscientific community have increased significantly in recent years. With their deep understanding of landform dynamics, geoscientists have an important role to play in enhancing agricultural productivity and farmer incomes; in providing a bedrock to the Smart Cities initiative; and in helping our fellow citizens fight the challenge.

Pradesh has allocated 5 acres of land in Bhopal for setting up of this Institute. The Institute will be established in three years in two phases. Within two years, the civil and electrical work of the institute will be completed. Simultaneously, during the construction of building, the Institute will run in a suitable rented building in Bhopal to conduct certificate/diploma courses and also OPD services. Subsequently, the Institute will provide complete set of rehabilitation services for persons with mental illness and conduct courses upto Master's degree and M.Phil.

NIMHR will be the first of its kind in the country in the area of mental health rehabilitation. It will serve as an institution of excellence to develop capacity building in the area of mental health rehabilitation and also help the Government to develop models for effective rehabilitation of persons with mental illness.

'Mere Sai' actors brave scorching temperatures on sets

Summers are here and the scorching heat makes it difficult for everyone to commute and work during the day time. The cast and crew of Sony Entertainment Television's show 'Mere Sai' actors shoot in an outdoor set under the sun as they need to capture multiple sequences which involves day light. The makers have recreated the village of Shirdi from the earlier era and have ensured to do every bit possible to present authentic surroundings for entertaining viewers. The entire troupe braves harsh weather which includes blistering heat and sunshine while shooting different sequences of the show. All the actors have been very co-operative in spite of the harsh environmental conditions and the production house has also tried their best to shoot scenes indoors during noon so that actors do not have to endure the blazing temperatures for a longer time. The actors along with the production team have also adopted novel and cost effective ways to beat the scorching heat on the sets.

When contacted Abeer Soofi who essays the role of Sai Baba says, "In this heat, we shoot outdoors every day. It's imperative to keep the body hydrated at all time to avoid heat strokes and other ailments. All of us constantly keep drinking water and ensure to drink coconut water. An interesting thing to share is that we do not have to purchase coconut water from any vendor, as the set has 2-3 coconut trees which serve the purpose. (19-8)
